Attack On Ship Made By German Planes In English Channel

MANY GO OVERBOARD AS ATTACK IS MADE

Damaged Vessel Is Towed To British Channel Port After Attack

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 4—One hundred and eight persons were listed as missing and believed killed today as the result of the war's newest major maritime tragedy—the bombing of the 8,441-ton British Indian passenger liner Domala by a German Heinkel warplane.

An admiralty announcement said the attack occurred early Saturday in the English channel.

Of the 301 persons aboard, the announcement stated, 193 were rescued, many suffering from injuries.

Three Bombs Hit Ship

Three of four bombs dropped by the plane struck the Domala, but the ship was not sunk, although a fire broke out. The damaged vessel was towed to a British channel port, where she lay at anchor today as a grim reminder of the war at sea.

Twenty of the missing were Britons. The others were British Indians who had been living in Germany but were being repatriated to their homeland. The Domala's captain was among those killed.

The ship had sailed from the Belgian port of Antwerp when it was pursued and attacked by the German bomber while ploughing through a heavy, rolling sea. A Dutch ship helped British vessels rescue the survivors.

Most of the passengers and many

Believe President Headed Toward Third Term Renomination

By WILLIAM K. HITCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 4.—On this seventh anniversary of his entry into the White House, President Roosevelt today appears headed toward a third term renomination at the Democratic convention in July.

The president seems to have a renomination in sight, unless he publicly renounces all desire and willingness to serve a third term. This analysis of the pre-convention situation, as of today, reflects the beliefs and forecasts of a great majority of Democratic leaders in congress, has even been changed in recent days to, "he can have it."

Has 392 Delegates

The president now has in sight 392 delegates out of 551 necessary for renomination. These come from 10 states in which his name has been entered in preferential primaries, or in which the state Democratic organizers are pledged to a third term. His managers are active now, too, in nine other states having

Plans Progressing For 'Pioneer Week'

March is in with its wind and rain and promise of spring just around the corner but this year March brings something else to New Castle—Pioneer Week. Plans that have been laid for the past few weeks are being put into operation, committees that have been preparing for their work now swing into action, and plans and committees are headed towards the week of March 25-31 which is Pioneer Week.

What is it? A hope, an inspiration, an emotional urge, a plan to stimulate confidence in New Castle, one to restore intitiative and courage, to shake off defeatism and bring New Castle people to the place where they will look around them, count their blessings, and believe that New Castle is still a grand place, one that has a diversity of industries here, and has a future full of hope.

Campaign Ramifications

The plans for the week call for many and varied activities. Industries, schools, churches, theatres, newspaper, radio, merchants, all have promised their co-operation to the end that the week may be a success. It will close on the night of March 30 with a mammoth ban-

Fire Destroys Home At Harbor

Blaze Occurs In Home Of Francis Walker Of Harbor Terrace Saturday Night

FAMILY ABSENT AS FIRE STARTS

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the home of Francis Walker at Harbor Terrace, three-quarters of a mile south of the Harbor bridge, about 10 o'clock Saturday evening, a loss of around $2,000 resulting.

The Walker family was absent when the fire broke out, Mr. and Mrs. Walker having gone to Cleveland, while the children were at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor, Harbor street.

The blaze was discovered by Robert Holman, a neighbor, who called city firemen, but in view of the fact that the blaze was then reported as breaking through the roof, firemen felt that they would be unable to prevent destruction of the house. The home was also in a rather inaccessible location, being located on a steep hillside, reached only by a narrow road.

With a half hour, the home had been entirely consumed. No insurance was carried on the contents, it is stated.

Kentucky Town Is Visited By Flood

(International News Service)

TAYLORVILLE, Ky., March 4.—More than 300 persons were temporarily homeless and about 900 others had to retreat to the upper floors of their homes today as flood waters covered Taylorsville for the fourth time in as many years.

The flood, expected to recede during the day, began early Sunday when torrential rains of Saturday sent Salt river and Bashears creek, which converge at Taylorsville, over their banks.

Light and power was cut off from the town last night.

Thousand Residents Of Shenandoah Are Roused In Terror By Mine Cave-In

(International News Service)

SHENANDOAH, Pa., March 4.—One thousand residents in the northern district of this anthracite mine community of 22,000 were roused from sleep in terror early today by the collapse of underground mine workings.

Paving throughout a four-block area caved in, settling in some places between two inches and three feet. Gas mains, water pipes and power lines were shattered.

Damage unofficially was estimated at $100,000.

Scores of sleeping householders were jarred from beds and interior damage was done in many of the 250 homes affected by the cave-in.

Display windows in a number of business establishments were smashed and framework damaged.

Residents Frightened

Fearing an earthquake, many of the frightened residents fled to the street in their night clothing, and police later had difficulty in persuading them to return to their homes.

Fears mounted momentarily as fumes from broken gas mains filled the neighborhood. Police reserves and all available ambulances were rushed into the district, but there were no casualties.

The four-block section, built over the Keeley Run mine said to have

Moravia Pastor Plans To Retire

Rev. T. C. Henderson Will Preach Farewell Sermon Sunday Morning

COMPLETING 45 YEARS MINISTRY

After 45 years in the ministry, the last 20 of which he has served the Moravia Presbyterian church as pastor, Rev. T. C. Henderson plans to retire. He will preach his farewell sermon in the Moravia church next Sunday morning.

Thursday night of this week the congregation will give a farewell party at the church in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Henderson and their family. An invitation is extended to all former members to be present, a committee member said today, in speaking of the plans.

Rev. and Mrs. Henderson plan to reside at 138 Park avenue, New Castle.

Here Twenty Years

Twenty years ago last November Rev. Henderson, whose former pastorates were in New York state, Indiana and the Old Sewickley church, Westmoreland county, Pa., became the leader of the Presbyterian congregation in Moravia. A native of New York state, he had early chosen to follow the ministry, and with this determination secured a splendid education in letters and theology. After Cornell university he studied at Yale Divinity school and Auburn seminary, and was ordained in 1895. The Moravia congregation secured an experienced and intelli-

German Flights Across Border Are Increasing

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 4.—In an attempt to cut off allied reconnaissance flights, Germany now is throwing a virtual barrage of pursuit planes across the west wall, military dispatches to Paris revealed today.

The German flights across the border are growing more extensive daily and scores of Messerschmitt and Heinkel fighter patrols, each numbering between seven and 21 planes, are roaring back and forth across the frontier.

As a result the Germans yesterday engaged two different French reconnaissance groups of Curtisses and Moranes and wild, screaming air fights followed. Two German planes were shot down behind the German lines but the French suffered no losses.

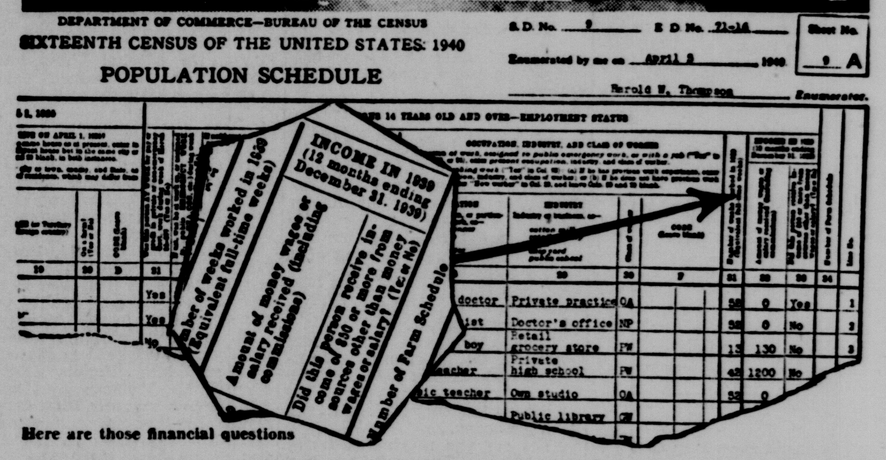

In addition, a British patrol engaged in a battle with German planes and shot one down.

French authorities said the German planes surveyed eastern France, flying over neutral Belgium before entering French territory.

Italian Ships Carrying Coal To Germany Will Test British Blockade

(International News Service)

ROTTERDAM, March 4.—Under instructions from Rome to attempt to break the British blockade, six Italian colliers carrying coal exported from Germany left Rotterdam today. Eight others are expected to get away tomorrow.

Some officials said they understood an agreement had been reached enabling the ships to pass British contraband control stations.

The Italian government, protesting against Britain's announced plan to seize German coal exports to Italy, is understood determined to force the British measure to an immediate test.

Lonlon, March 4.—Great Britain will insist upon halting German coal exports to Italy in spite of the stiff Italian protest, it was stated authoritatively today.

It was indicated that Anglo-Italian trade talks in Rome have broken down because of the coal controversy but the British representatives are remaining in the Italian capital in hopes that the conversations will resume.

Dutch Steamers Reported Attacked

Bombing Planes Make Attack On London To Antwerp Vessel

(International News Service)

FLUSHING, The Netherlands, March 4.—An attack by unidentified bombing planes on the Dutch coastal steamer De Ruyter, bound from London to Antwerp, was revealed when the vessel touched at Flushing today.

The captain expressed belief that the Dutch steamers Friso and Nottingham, in the same general vicinity at the time, also had been attacked by the raiders. There was no indication of any damage, however.

The planes attacked from an altitude of only 300 feet, the captian reported.

News of the incident caused considerable indignation.

At the same time, Dutch oil importers heard with disappointment that the British government is refusing navicerts to American exporters for shipment of oil to this country as well as Denmark and Belgium.

Dutch authorities disagreed with the view that Holland was likely to export the oil. At the very outbreak of the war, it was said, the government forbade such shipments to the belligerent powers.

HELSINKI, March 4.—Falling back before terrific Russian pressure, Finnish defenders of Viborg retreated to the northwest today in orderly fashion to take up new defenses lines prepared in advance.

Finnish authorities denied steadfastly that Viborg has yet fallen before the Soviet onslaught, but it seemed obvious that the Fanns are now preparing to make their main stand behind the wrecked city.

Nazi Minor Attack Near Moselle River Is Repulsed, French Announce

MORE ACTION IS EVIDENT ON FRONT

(International News Service)

PARIS, March 4.—"Decidedly new activity" on the western front, during which French troops repulsed a German attack near the Moselle river, was announced by the French high command today.

War communique No. 365 described the accelerated fighting, which some observers in Paris believed may presage a general intensification of activity along the entire western front.

According to the French bulletin, two German pursuit planes "probably" were shot down yesterday.

"It was a relatively quiet night on the whole," the communique said.

"Two of our outposts east of the Moselle river repulsed a local attack.

"These last days have, on the whole been marked by decidedly new activity on the part of contact units and also by patrols and reconnaissances along the entire front between the Rhine and the Moselle.

"During the day of March 3 numerous aerial fights took place and two enemy fighters probably were brought down. All of our crews returned safely to their bases.

"In addition a German scout was brought down over an outpost line by the (British) royal air force."

To get all these 392 delegates, however, the president must take two hurdles in the next 30 days. A slip at either might turn his apparent sweep toward a third nomination into a rout of third term forces.

The first hurdle is the March 12 primary in New Hampshire. There, for the first time since November, 1936, the magic name of Roosevelt goes before the voters at a popular election. Funeral Of Infant.

Funeral services for Thomas Earl Wagner, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Wagner of Volant, were conducted from the Volant Methodist church Sunday afternoon with Rev. R. K. Rumbaugh, the pastor, in charge, assisted by Rev. Leonard Mathewson, pastor of the Harlansburg Baptist church.

Miss Carol Bird sang a hymn during the services, accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Hunt. The church was filled by family friends; a great many beautiful floral pieces had been sent. Pallbearers were May Brocklehurst, Fay Brocklehurst, Joyce Skinner and Helen Moon. Interment was in Harlansburg Baptist cemetery.

ferson street, from the public square north and south. Likewise, the top surfacing on the diamond is badly in need of touching up.

Since the commencement of the cold and inclement weather in the late autumn, ten female and two male pheasants have been constant visitors in the back yard of the home of David Province on the New Wilmington road. This is the first year any of these birds have appeared. Probably, instinctively, the birds knew it would be a hard winter and food would be scarce, and that they should seek a boarding place early. Mr. Province places food regularly for them under some bushes.

Rains over the weekend, which melted much of the accumulation of snow, which covered the countryside, has caused local streams to rise rapidly. The Shenango river was up five feet since Saturday evening, while the Neshannock had also risen considerably. Much of the ice which was left along the stream banks when it went off last month, is being carried away by the high water.

After much rain during the last couple of days, both the Neshannock and Shenango rivers have risen considerably today. It will do good service by clearing out the river channels of much debris that has collected for some months.

ASKS MANDAMUS MOVE BE QUASHED

of the county election boards as to the manner in which they shall act in pursuit of their duties.

It further recites that the complaint does not charge the defendants have refused to perform their duty imposed by the statute, but rather, that they have refused to do it in the way the plaintiffs say they should.

The motion cites the fact that the petition was not supported by an affidavit, and several other reasons set forth that the form of the petition is wrong.

Finaly, the motion to quash says the action cannot be maintained by presumptions that are founded upon presumptions. The presumptions set out by the motion to quash are that if the election for county chairman is held, none of the petitioners would be elected. The majority of the members of the county committee to be elected on April 23 will be opposed to the election of a chairman by popular vote and will proceed to the election of a chairman by the county committee who will not be the same person elected by popular vote. That the person elected by the county committee will be one of the petitioners. If the presumptions set out do not become realities, then the case is purely academic and the mandamus should not lie.

It is cited that if such presumptions do become realities and two chairmen are elected, there is a remedy at law by quo warranto proceedings.

The motion to quash will be heard Wednesday morning at nine o'clock and will precede any other hearing in the question. Should the motion to quash be granted, the writ of alternative mandamus asked for will be voided. Should the motion to quash be refused, then a hearing upon the petition for a mandamus will be heard.

those already announced by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain.

Reynaud is expected to inform the American diplomat regarding France's peace aims are linked with French plans for economic reconstruction of Europe after the war is ended.

This, he is expected to tell Welles, will be carried out in the event of an allied victory on the basis of Franco-British plans and in cooperation with a new program for international trade and peace.

Welles was due to reach Basle shortly before noon today. He will make connections at Basle for Lausanne.

Bid Welles Farewell

En route from Berlin, Welles' train passed through part of the Western front area.

A group of German notables bade Welles farewell at Berlin when he departed after hearing German Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering explain that the Reich air force is capable of causing unprecedented destruction if its full power is released.

Deputy Party Leader Rudolf Hess, in a talk with Welles, explained Nazi Germany's social and political organization and declared this could sustain war longer than Britain or France.

Hildebrand Named Foreman Of Jury

With six of the 24 grand jurors called for duty today in the Lawrence county court house excused, the grand jury went into session to consider some twenty or twenty-five indictments handed up by the district attorney.

G. Dallas Hildebrand was appointed foreman of the grand jury and after the charge, the jury went to work immediately. The six jurors excused were John Day, watchman of the Fourth ward; Jannie Deemer, housekeeper, Ellport; Moses Karlen, operator, Second ward; Helen Kovach, housekeeper, Eighth ward; Fred C. Schmidt, foreman, Taylor township; Frank Vallely, laborer, Fourth ward.

FAITH
WHY SHOULD WE?
Several times, since we have been advertising our wholesale department, our friends have asked us the question, "Have you discontinued the funeral directing professien?" Our answer is "Why should we?" Just because we are in the business of wholesale funeral supplies is no reason we should quit being a funeral director.
Every now and then we hear such reports as, we are not doing much undertaking for we are high-priced. This is said by agents and people who are out working for some other funeral director. But, thank the Lord we have not had to stoop to that yet.
We had charge of more funerals last year than we have had for several years, and a number of people who honorably ewed their work to us, heard these wild stories, and some of them went other places, probably influenced by someone else against their wishes. But, nearly always these cases come back to us, and we find they have paid mighty dearly for listening to this propaganda.
The work we do, from year to year, has not come to us by any effort we have made, other than by giving good service at the lowest prices.
CAMPBELL'S SINCE 1898
We do not lend or rent our chairs, they are for funeral work only. Have you the uttermost faith in your funeral director?

MISS SCHAIN SPEAKER BEFORE PUBLIC TONIGHT

This evening, at 8:30 in Temple Israel on Highland avenue, a meeting is open to the public at which time, Miss Josephine Schain, leader in the feminist movement and one of the foremost opponents of war, an international figure, will speak.

Miss Schain, brilliant student of international relations, lawyer and anti-war crusader, will consider proposals for lessening friction in the universe. Miss Schain is well versed, being chairman of the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War, a cooperative enterprise of eleven national women's organizations, and has traveled extensively in many lands.

This meeting is under the sponsorship of the Sisterhood of Temple Israel, the Sisterhood of Tifereth Israel Synagogue, Jewish Ladies Relief, New Castle Chapter of Hadassah and New Castle Section of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Presidents of the organizations named, will compose the receiving line.

DEPARTMENT WOMEN HONOR MISS SCHAIN

International Relations Department members of The Woman's Club, held a luncheon today in the home of Mrs. Clyde Gilfillan, Clenmore Boulevard, the occasion honoring a distinguished guest in this city, Miss Josephine Schain of New York.

About thirty women enjoyed the informal occasion, before going to Woman's Club in Highland United Presbyterian church, to hear Miss Schain speak.

COUPLE MARRIED ON PARENTS' ANNIVERSARY

On Mr. and Mrs. John S. McCready's 24th wedding anniversary, Friday, March 1, their daughter, Helen Virginia, became the bride of James Clifford Bright, son of Mrs. J. C. Bright, Mahoningtown, R. D. 7, in the McCready home at New Galilee R. D. 1.

It was also Mr. McCready's and the groom's birthday anniversaries. The wedding took place at 6:50 p. m., the same time of day as the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bright, and the principals were each just one year older than Mr. and Mrs. McCready were on their wedding day.

Rev. D. T. McCalmont, retired minister from New Wilmington officiated in the presence of the immediate families, including the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Reed, Mahoningtown, R. D. 7. The single ring ceremony was used, being performed by candlelight.

The couple was unattended.

For her wedding, the bride chose a pale blue street length dress. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served, places being laid for 20.

Early Saturday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Bright left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and other places of interest., Upon their return, they will take up temporary residence with the bride's parents. Both are graduates of Mt. Jackson high school, the bride in the class of '38 and the groom in the class of '37.

WILLIAM PRITCHARD HAS 83RD BIRTHDAY

Quietly commemorating his 83rd birthday, William Pritchard received members of the immediate family at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Lawton, Walnut street, Sunday evening.

An informal social time was enjoyed by the older folks. Mr. Pritchard received many lovely cards from his friends and relatives; also many useful gifts in remembrance of the happy day.

The hostess, with the assistance of Mrs. David Taylor, Mrs. Edward Pritchard and Mrs. William Pritchard, served a delicious birthday lunch.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Pritchard and daughter Joan, of Youngstown; Mrs. Raymond Stevens of Youngstown, Howard Kelso and Harold Ramsey.

In spite of his advanced age, Mr. Pritchard is the deacon of the Welsh Congregational church and is active.

ROAD TO PEACE—OR WAR?

EXTREME caution will have to be exercised lest America's well-intended diplomatic inquiries, economic proposals and attempts to "unify" neutral opinion shall cause this country to wade too far into the international mess and become dangerously involved in a war-breeding situation.

It is ideally inspiring, of course, to contend that America is an integral part of the world and therefore should assume its share of responsibility and leadership. However, the extent to which Uncle Sam's fingers were burned during a previous attempt to save all mankind should serve as a restraining reminder.

Many observers think they see a repetition of the course that brought this country into war two and a half decades ago. These critics point to Sumner Welles as a second Colonel House, and contend that the Hull post-war program, is in certain basic essentials, comparable to the famous Fourteen Points of Woodrow Wilson.

While argument by analogy has admitted weaknesses, developments of the last few months strongly suggest that the United States should start stepping gingerly and circumspectly in connection with all international maneuvers that threaten to create, gradually but none the less surely, a web of entanglements from which ultimate escape will be very difficult if not impossible.

Public opinion in the United States is not ready to concede that another effort should be made to save the world for democracy when everything indicates that such an inspired course might simply lead to more unpaid war debts, further slaughter of young Americans on foreign soil and a new peace betrayal at the hands of Europe.

This country's greatest danger at the moment is that of being mislead by delusions of grandeur and misplaced confidence like those which led to the ultimate downfall of Woodrow Wilson. It can only be fervently hoped that the danger will not be unduly aggravated by seemingly innocent moves that nevertheless entail the tragic risks of war involvement.

GREETINGS FROM NORTH POLE (WIS.)

Just like that, faster than you can say Lake Wallenpaupack, the Postoffice Department has changed the name of Marshville, Wisconsin, to North Pole. This is doubtless on the principle that because Santa Claus, Indiana, has had some success with its Yuletide postmark, North Pole, Wisconsin, may find its name, signifying the traditional home of Santa Claus, not unprofitable from a postal standpoint.

But if place names are going to be ladled out in this fashion, a town in Alabama or even farther North could be tagged South Pole or Little America. Names of towns in this country run the glamour gamut from Paradise all the way down to Moscow. But if the main consideration is postal receipts it ought to be a simple matter to change a few of them to Bali-Bali, Samarkand, Bombay and Singapore.

What do geographical duplications matter if the Postoffice Department can bring a little of the romance of far-away places into humble stay-at-home lives?

AIR RAID INSURANCE ROW

Just a few months ago the merchants and industrialists of Great Britain were of the opinion that it would be a good thing for the government to insure their stocks against war damage. They were even willing to pay a reasonable premium on such insurance—that is, a premium fixed as low as possible. So it was done, the rate being one-fourth of one per cent a month. And insurance with the government is compulsory.

But the months have come and gone, with their usual quota of snow and rain and wind and sunshine. There have been fair days and foul—nights also. The fortunes of war have wavered back and forth. Monthly premiums have been paid, as per contract. But no bombs from the air have destroyed or damaged the stocks of British merchants and industrialists. No insurance has been collected. Everything going out, nothing coming in.

So British merchants and industrialists are asking why they should pay for insurance before the air raids begin. Their roof has a hole in it, so to speak, but no rain is coming in. They think they would rather wait for rainy weather before repairing it.

THE WAR FOR OIL

That struggle between Germany and the Allies to control the disposition of Rumania's oil is but a prelude to the real fight to come. That fight will seek control not only of Rumania's oil but of all the fields in the Near East, including Russia. The prize is a daily production of a million barrels of petroleum, which is enough to supply all of the warring powers.

The Allies have available to them 400,000 barrels of crude oil daily from Iran, Iraq, Rumania and other sources. This is moved through the Mediterranean, which gives Mussolini an advantage as a non-belligerent. Italy could cause Allied oil shipments a lot of trouble in a Mediterranean war and Britain is not anxious to take him on, although Britain will if necessary.

Hitler wants Rumania's oil and probably can get it if the Rumanians don't blow up the wells to prevent him. In addition Hitler must have a lot of oil from Russia, which is no easy matter in view of the difficult transportation problems. And if a war front is created around the Black Sea, the chances are most of Russia's oil production will be tied up.

All of this is a sad commentary on man's methods of solving his problems. There is plenty of oil for all. Yet aggressors must bathe the world in blood and soak it with bankruptcy to get control when they might have all the oil they need by peaceful, constructive trade.

It is maple syrup time in New England. It is good to know there is still something in this world that can drip sweetness.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FITTING WORK TO CHILD'S ABILITIES

The very bright child may be bored at school. As a result, he may hate school or resort to mischief there. An occasional bright child will lapse into habits of inattention and daydreaming, lagging or even failing in the regular school work. The following is an example of the bright child who hates school.

"Dear Dr. Myers—My son, six, started to school last fall. He was crazy about school the first few weeks, but now he doesn't want to go. He can read books, newspapers and the like. He also adds, subtracts and the like, and school seems dull to him now. He knows, such words as beautiful, dismayed, dissatisfied. . . . He also knows the names of foreign countries and follows the war news in the papers. . . . The reason he is dissatisfied at school is that he wants to read more there. I was wondering if I should ask them to advance him to the second grade or have him go on in the first."

Make Work Harder

I wrote this mother that promotion to the second grade might be the best thing to do in this case, but that if the teacher could be induced to let him read from much harder books at school, he could profitably continue in his present grade.

Why is it so hard for a teacher to take account of widely different abilities among children? Why doesn't she challenge the bright child's ability? On the other hand, why doesn't she give the dull child what he can succeed at? She thinks she doesn't have the time, perhaps. But she could, without more time or effort, get far better results by suiting the work to the child's ability.

Inasmuch as many teachers just won't enrich the bright child's work at school, some of them had better be pushed forward. But when they are, some suffer socially. They feel out of place and miss the invaluable experience of mingling normally with other children of their own age.

Advocated Enrichment

For years I have advocated enrichment rather than rapid promotion for the brighter child. Indeed, I wrote, I think, the first article to appear in any educational journal advocating "Broadening the course of study for the brighter pupil."

Today this point of view prevails and is in practice in a number of large city systems in the United States. Accordingly, gifted children study and play at school with other children about their own age, with opportunity at the same time to exercise their superior learning aptitudes.

In that article I advocated segregation of the gifted pupils. I wish now I had not. The real problem is to challenge the ability of the bright child right among his classmates in the regular group. It will take time before the average teacher will think and teach in terms of the varying abilities of her pupils, though she already has come a long way.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Suppose you command a 10-year-old boy to do something and he ignores the command.

A. First, calmly ask him to repeat the command. If he fails to obey within a reasonable time, calmly announce a penalty.

Q. If you must appily a penalty for disobedience, will you punish him until he does obey?

A. No, since he was given a choice to do it or receive the penalty. He deliberately chose the penalty and fulfilled your requirements, whether he obeyed the original command or not. Assume that the penalty he recieved will make him ready to obey next time. Its effect on the future obedience is your major concern.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

If you have ambitions to become a recluse, the surest and quickest means of losing your popularity is to neglect your social correspondence. Failure to promptly answer a personal letter is one of those impardonable sins whose degree increases in proportion to the length of the period of neglect. If you hold out your hand to someone who refuses to shake it you feel deeply insulted. Hardly less is the resentment of the friend who by means of a letter extends to you a token of friendship which you appear to refuse by neglecting its acknowledgment. Many deep friendships developed and maintained by cordial correspondence have resulted in valuable financial advantages.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markle: Please tell a bride how to instruct her maid as to front door etiquette? Our front door opens into a vestibule with no seats. The vestibule opens into a foyer with a large chair and a love seat. The foyer into the living room. What is the procedure with agents, friends, relatives?—Bride.

Answer: If your friends belong to the card-leaving set, you should keep on your foyer table a card tray, a memorandum pad and a pencil for any note to be left by a caller. When your servant answers the door bell, she should appear with the tray in her left hand to receive possible visiting cards.

Agents, if regular collectors and known by your maid to be bona fide, should be brought into the foyer where they may properly be admitted at the front door.

If when at home you always "receive" callers, they should be shown to the living room, whether you are there or upstairs. If you have only certain days "at home" be sure to inform your servant before-hand on your "not-at-home" days, since it is discourteous for a hostess to have her servant tell a visitor she is not at home after the visitor has sent in her card. When you are "at home" the servant should show your visitors to the living room where you are receiving. She should slightly precede the visitor, that she may present the latter's card to you. Of course, if you live simply and are not in the habit of leaving or receiving cards, your maid should then go to the door, admit visitors and notify you of their presence.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

Hull Policy Approved In Part
Republicans Show Acquiescence
Some Favor Reciprocal Trading

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 4.—An especially interesting detail of the Republican program committee's statement of principles, with a view to the coming national campaign, is to be found in the organization's partial acquiesence in State Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade policy, which he's been developing since early in the Roosevelt regime.

Secretary Hull, if not an out-and-out free trader, at least is a very low tariff advocate. My own impression is that his reciprocal treaties aim at the ultimate abolition of custom houses, or tariffs for revenue only. Evidently, however, the state departmental head thinks this would be an overdose, all at once, for a country so habituated to the protective philosophy as ours is, and is trying to accomplish his end, through his reciprocal bargains, by degrees.

That is to say, if some other nation will lower its tariffs in our favor, we'll correspondingly lower ours in favor of the other chaps.

For instance, Brazil produces a lot of tropical stuff that we need, being entirely untropical ourselves, whereas Brazil needs plenty of our manufactured goods, being mainly a non-industrial realm. So Secretary Hull proposes a big reduction in our tariffs on tropical raw material in return for a Brazilian reduction on our processed junk.

He has concluded 20-odd of these compacts with our governments, and reliable calculations show that they've been mutually very beneficial. A few narrow interests' spokesmen deny it, but the figures generally are accepted, as indicated by the Republican program committee's report—that committee being one which wouldn't be likely to speak well of the Hull plan if it didn't sincerely think well of it, in moderation.

Partisan Traditions

Of course, the Democratic party has been traditionally pro-free trade or tariff for revenue only. It's been so theoretically. In practice this hasn't been altogether the case. Democratic legislators quite uniformly have voted for high tariffs against imports which threatened to encourage foreign competition by countries productive of commodities that their own localities are rich in.

Republicans, equally traditionally, have been high protectionists. Yet a few of them have preached, not free trade, but reciprocity—free world exchanges of non-competitive commodities. James G. Blaine was an early reciprocity apostle. But, just following the last World war, Republicanism went protectionalistically a bit cuckoo. As Senator E. P. Costigan of Colorado, who had been a member of the Federal Tariff Commission, once told me, protection seemed to him to have become nothing short of a "religion" to such lawmakers as Senator Reed Smoot and Representative Hawley, framers of the celebrated Smoot-Hawley schedule soon after President Hoover's election. Parenthetically, Hoover never pretended overly to like that law.

At that Smoot-Hawley hearing, preceding the law's enactment, I recall that Yankee apple growers demanded a prohibitive tariff against bananas (which we can't grow, except under glass) in order to make Americans eat apples.

Earlier Principles

Republicans of today, as suggested by Chairman Glenn Frank of the G. O. P. program committee, are getting back to Blaine (Republican)-Hull (Democratic) reciprocity.

Here's where they clash:

Hull got congressional authorization to conclude pacts without any legislative o. k. The constitution provides that an executive treaty requires senatorial approval to become effective. Secretary Hull has been concluding 'em with no approval whatever.

Congress is jealous.

The legislators don't kick on the treaties "per se." What they say is that treaties, concluded by the state department, aren't effective until approved—not only by the senators, as per the constitution, but by the house of representatives, too.

The executive "end" points out that it never can get any action with the legislators indefinitely arguing.

The coming election hinges largely on that.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1940) by The Baltimore Sun

The Answer Is "Phooey"

WASHINGTON, March 4. THERE is a type of present-day politician and newspaper writer who, when bereft of other ideas, always falls back upon the noble notion that it is fine stuff to sock Mr. Herbert Hoover. Their pleasing custom is to picture him as a sinister and scheming fellow, inept, sour, selfish, destitute of honor and devoid of shame.

MOSTLY, this is the hangover result of the great smearing campaign conducted by Mr. Raskob's paid propagandists from 1928 to 1932 in which so many "gentlemen of the press" heartily cooperated. Though some of these have since expressed regret and there have been evidences that the public was badly overstuffed with the product, the smaller bore among the politicians and the more prejudiced of the journalists still keep it up. Recently, these have been stimulated by the Newsweek poll, which showed that among Washington correspondents—largely a hostile group—many more regarded him as better qualified for the Presidency than any Republican in the country.

AT once there was an outbreak of anti-Hoover sniping. Stories appeared of a "junta" (pompous word) between Mr. Landon and Mr. Martin to prevent Mr. Hoover from "capturing the nomination for himself". Mr. Hoover was described as an "Old Guardsman" and, of course, those in the "junta", as liberals, although any reasonably informed person knows that the real Old Guard detested Mr. Hoover, opposed his nomination in 1928, were poisonously antagonistic while he was in the White House and still—such as remain of them—cordially hate him.

NEVERTHELESS, for the publicity purposes of these little politicians and their press reflectors, Mr. Hoover is the Old Guardsman and Mr. Landon the great liberal. It is a direct echo of the Kenneth Simpson incident when a year or so ago Mr. Simpson publicly attributed his failure to land the place on the Republican executive committee, now held by ex-Senator Hastings, to the wicked machinations of a reactionary Hoover. There was not a trace of truth in that, but the journalistic friends of Mr. Simpson had a grand time elaborating on it.

A FEW months ago Mr. Simpson walked into Mr. Hoover's rooms in a New York hotel and, in effect, said, "I did a rotten thing and I am ashamed of it. I know the truth

WOMEN IN POLITICS

"Here's to the ladies—but not as politicians!" No mere male proposes so brash a toast. The sentiments are strictly those of the fairer sex.

Giving the clue of the decrease of the number of women legislators during recent years, the seven hundred women students of Russell Sage College recently voted overwhelmingly against women holding any high public office.

Reasons given They lack the required physical and emotional stability. They have not yet acquired sufficient experience in public affairs. They cannot "escape the pettiness of life." Another reason for the notable absence of career women in politics was not explicitly mentioned in this poll. It may, however, have been in their minds. And this is the fact that women, despite the hopes held by the early crusaders in the fight for woman suffrage, simply do not like to vote for women candidates for office. As a great bloc comprising nearly half the nation's voters, American women could easily double or triple the number of their sex holding office, if they so desired. But apparently they do not.

Women as breadwinners America enthusiastically supports. Wage-earning women, in fact, today number about 14,500,000 or nearly one-third the country's total working population. But women as politicians—that's a story which has scarcely begun and to tell the truth, the ladies themselves seem in no hurry to begin it!

There is one woman, I know, who is in politics just now up to her neck. She was elected to the California State Legislature by the Democrats and after her first session she said she was almost persuaded to become a Republican, so disguested was she with the "crackpot" legislation proposed by her fellow alleged Democrats. She was reelected, however, and now is in open alliance with the Republicans in opposition to the desires of the Communistically inclined Governor Olson. The Governor is so incensed with the opposition that he threatens to purge the State Assembly by a Recall Election of this woman and her fellow insurrectionists in the Party.

Will Have Roles In School Play

"What A Life" To Be Presented At High School This Week

Jane Walls Jeannette Kulkin

Miss Hartsuff's class in dramatics are having a particularly joyous time caricaturing high school teachers in their final rehearsals for the school play, "What a Life."

Jane Walls becomes the justly exasperated schoolmarm when she deals with the irresponsible and indolent Henry, who is the definitely unheroic hero of the play. When she is not impersonating Miss Eggleson, or doing a type of class work which puts her regularly on the honor roll, Jane is taking full advantage of the varied extra-curricular opportunities of the big school on Lincoln avenue. She is a member of Senatus Romanus, senior high school honorary club; she is a squad leader for the department of physical education, and a member of its departmental club; a member of the Girl Reserves, the rifle club, holds a place on the library squad; and is helping with the publication of the senior year-book, "The Ne-Ca-Hi."

This very club-minded young lady with the enviable academic record, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Walls of Boyles avenue.

Jeannette Kulkin is cast as Miss Wheeler, nervous and fussy with other teachers, but very serious and stern and competent in her class room relations with students. "Kulk" is doubtless having to stretch her imagination a good deal as to what it means to be like that, unless perhaps she is playing the mimic of someone she has known at close range. Her chief interests are musical; she is an amateur pianist of considerable ability and supplements her out-of-school activities along this line with assisting Mr. Duff's choir as one of his choristers. She is active in the organizaiton of the Rainbow Girls. She assists Miss Westlake and Miss Sines in the high school library as one of their squad of assistants.

Jeannette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kulkin of Boyles avenue.

Examine Auto Drivers Tuesday

Necessary Licenses Must Be Signed; Tests Begin At 10 A. M.

State motor police will test prospective operators of motor cars between the hours of 10 a. m. and three p. m. Tuesday, in Sampson street. Examinations will be conducted in the order of applicants arrival.

Applicants must possess a signed learner's permit, a signed registration card for the car used in the test, be accompanied by a licensed operator who also must have his signed license.

Should operating conditions be hazardous because of snow or ice, chains must be used. The cars must be in good condition. The vehicles must be equipped with windshield wiper and mirror.

The police give the applicants a reading test and color blind examination. The car then is examined, following which an operating examination is given and the applicant is quizzed as to his or her knowledge of motor laws.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 4.—The talk in some Washington political circles is that the most likely Republican convention ticket this year will be composed of Vandenberg and James. . . The comment is that Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan is most likely to get the Republican presidential nomination and Gov. Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania the vice-presidential nomination. . . Circles close to the Republican state committee at Harrisburg said they had heard the same story, but believed the candidates' positions would be reversed—James and Vandenberg.

"Don't be surprised," said an important Pennsylvana Democratic leader during a visit to the state capitol, "if the Democratic slate this year is again Roosevelt and Garner". . . Other politicos discount such a lineup.

Governor James tells this story on himself. . . "I couldn't speak a word of English until I was seven years old. . . In fact, I never spoke at all until I was four. . . Two of my constant playmates in my home town during my early years were deaf mutes". . . The governor said that for a good number of years Welsh was spoken more than English. . . Most of his neighbors, he pointed out, were Welsh.

The new liquor control building, built at a cost of $1,000,000 just north of the state capitol, will be opened for use on March 15 when the licensing and enforcement divisions move in. . . It will probably be another month before the rest of the liquor board force moves over from their present locations in downtown Harrisburg. . . The board expects to save enough from the $60,000 in rents it now pays annually in Harrisburg alone, to amortize the building's cost quickly. . . Half of the construction cost has been furnished by the PWA as an outright gift, while the rest was borne by the state.

The recent refusal of the state bureau of unemployment compensation to grant state senator William J. Eroe, Lawrence-Beaver county Democrat, jobless benefits despite the lost of his job as a private salesman, has its parallel in Ohio. . . H. C. Atkinson, head of the Ohio bureau of employment compensation, ruled that Ohio legislators who lose private jobs while serving in the general assembly are not eligible for jobless benefits because they were paid on an annual basis as assembly members. . . The Pennsylvania bureau based its ruling on exactly the same premise.

BUT AT THE PARTY AFTERWARD... HOW DIFFERENT! The nervous tension of endless rehearsals resulted in NERVOUS (NERVOUS BODY ODOR) B.O.
SHE LEARNED THE HARD WAY

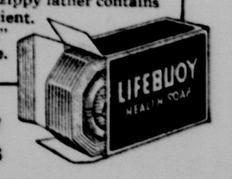

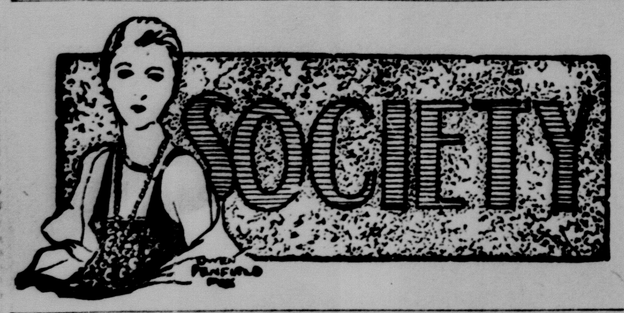

Science explains tricks our nerves play on us..

"Nervous B.O." often betrays you when you're most anxious to please. Excitement acts upon your nerves, Science says. Your nerves act upon your sweat glands. Nervous perspiration starts. If you haven't taken proper precautions "nervous B.O." has a chance to develop. It's grand to take a daily Lifebuoy bath—and know you're protected from "nervous B.O." An amazing soap, Lifebuoy! Its mild, zippy lather contains a hygienic deodorizing ingredient. Also guards against "B.O." caused by heat or exercise.

ANSWER ALARMS FOR SMALL FIRES

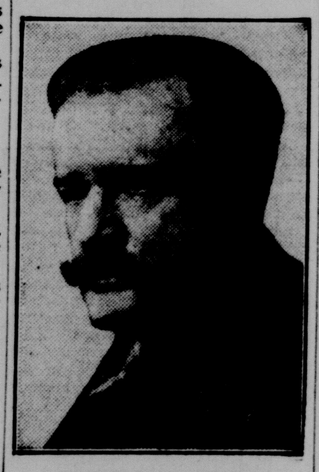

City firemen answered two alarms for small fires over the week end.

At 2:02 p. m. Sunday, they were summoned to the home of R. M. Grimes, of 914 Croton avenue, where a chimney was burning out.

At 6 p. m., Sunday, they were called to the home of V. O. Potter, of 1033 East Washington street, where a pair of gloves which had been used in cleaning the furnace, caught fire, and caused smoke to fill the building. There was no loss.

Moriz Rosenthal Here Tuesday Night

Famous Pianist Celebrating His Fiftieth American Debut This Year

MORIZ ROSENTHAL

One of the most colorful musicians of the world appears in New Castle Tuesday night when Moriz Rosenthal plays the third concert of the Metropolitan Concert Guild in the George Washington Junior high school Tuesday night, March 5.

Moriz Rosenthal is not a young man. Past 78 he is still an amazingly active man and still the master of his instrument. He is the only living pupil of Franz Liszt and among the men he has called friend during his lifetime are Brahsm, Rubenstein, Johann Strauss, Saint-Saens, Massenet, von Bulow and many others.

He arrives today directly from Los Angeles, Calif., and will rest today and tonight in the Castleton hotel. He is an unusual man and despite his years plays with a fire and virility that sets him apart in the world of music.

The Great Game Of Politics

telephonic request of the Prime Minister of Finland, an old friend, who insisted that Mr. Hoover already had the gratitude of the Finnish people for what he did twenty-five years ago, and that if he were to lead a movement here it would have a great effect upon the civilian morale there. From the start, the understanding was that the money collected through Mr. Hoover would be primarily to relieve distress, but could be used in any way the Finnish Government thought best. In other words, there were no strings tied to it—and are not now.

AS for the Republican nomination those who know Mr. Hoover best are certain that if he thought the convention would nominate him he would be deeply disturbed. He is 66 years old and has no desire to take on the immense burdens that go with the job. The chances that he will be nominated are almost too remote to discuss. Things in politics do not happen—they are arranged; and, despite the silly apprehensions of dim-witted members of his party, Mr. Hoover has done no arranging, is doing no arranging and will not do any arranging.

HE has, of course, friends who would like to see him President, but so long continued has been the campaign of calumny against him that even some of the most devoted of these do not think he can be nominated or, if nominated, elected. There is reason to believe that Mr. Hoover feels that way himself. In any event, it is a fact that he has not directly or indirectly personally lifted a finger to "promote himself politically". He is tremendously interested in getting the best possible ticket and the best possible platform out of the Republican convention because he very deeply believes that if this country is to be saved from collapse the New Dealers have got to be swept out and a few basic things done in the first ninety days of a new Administration to restore confidence and revive business initiative.

TO this end he has advised those who have come to him for advice of his belief that perhaps the best convention results might be obtained through the selection of high-class uninstructed delegates. What other advice could he give? It appears now that the bulk of the Republican convention—and the Democratic convention, too—will be made up of such uninstructed delegates. Unable to comprehend any politics not based on selfish desire, the breast beaters bleat that this is a Hoover plot to "draft himself". Using Mayor LaGuardia's elegant and expressive words, the answer to that is "phooey".

—BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

PROBABLY the most degraded form which the current smearing has taken is in the circulation of the story that Mr. Hoover's efforts in behalf of Finland are inspired by the hope of "promoting himself politically." Of course, no one personally will sponsor so contemptible a suggestion, but it has been printed a number of times under the convenient "they say" cloak and in other ways. The truth about the Finnish business is that Mr. Hoover consented to head the relief movement here at the direct, personal, and want to apologize." To that Mr. Hoover, in effect, replied, 'That's all right. I certainly do not want to discourage anybody in politics who wants to act like a gentleman. Let's go on from here." That was to Mr. Simpson's credit, but it is not to the credit of those who, with so much relish, disseminated Mr. Simpson's original statement, that they have let it stand. Nor is it to their credit now that they are willing to broadcast the suspicions of shoddy politicians, who, judging others by themselves, believe that everybody who takes an active part in party affairs is animated by a base motive.

Three Are Killed In Auto Crashes Near Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 4—Automobile accidents in Mahoning county over the week-end left three persons dead, one of them a truck driver who was crushed for more than an hour under tons of steel.

The truck driver, Russell Smutz, 22, of LaSalle, Mich., went off the road about 15 miles east of Youngstown on an "S" curve late Sunday afternoon. His truck ripped out 100 feet of guard rails from along the side of the road and dropped over an embankment into a creek before turning over. Smutz was employed by the Sentle Trucking Co., of Toledo, O.

In an earlier accident, Henry Broll, 22, was killed and Mary Katherine Smith, 19, was seriously injured when they were struck while walking along a North Side street. Police are holding a 26-year-old driver and impounded his automobile on suspicion in the accident.

A two-car collision five miles south of the city shortly before Saturday midnight was fatal to Olga Puz, 21, of near-by Struthers. Miss Puz died early Sunday morning in South Side hospital. Three other persons in the automobile received minor injuries.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT

A few days ago I referred to the plight of the youngster who is partially blind; whose sight is so poor that his work in and out of school is hampered and who sometimes suffers a needless handicap because his parents can't or won't send him to one of the schools where such children get special instruction.

There are several causes of such bad eyesight in children. Myopia or nearsightedness is common; there are sometimes congenital defects too, damaged eyes where some injury or disease has been to blame. One congenital defect is hyperopia or farsightedness. In such cases the child often improves so that he can enter an ordinary school—if he has a couple of years in special classes in which his eyes have been given special exercises and he has been taught to use his eyes and recognize objects within his field of vision.

In these cases the child has never seen things close to him and when his eyes do improve so he can see objects close by, he doesn't know how to interpret them.

In cases where the condition is the result of disease and is slowly clearing up, the child should go to special classes until the time comes when his vision is good enough to permit him to take his place in ordinary classes.

Sometimes eyes are bad because a child's general health is run down. Open air schools have been started for such children and everything is done to improve the child's physical condition. Often in such cases, however, it is a problem to decide whether the child should go to special sight classes or to open air school.

Most people we see wearing glasses do so because they have myopia or nearsighted vision. It is very, very common, and at the same time it is unusual to find a case of myopia that cannot be corrected fairly well through the use of the correct glasses. When children with myopia cannot be fitted with glasses that will let them attend ordinary school classes, it is because some other abnormality, such as astigmatism, has complicated the condition.

Very often myopia in children is started by too much work. By eye strain, that is. The correct fitting of glasses will often check the deterioration of the eye sight, but nevertheless the constant use of books by nearsighted children is dangerous. Some eye specialists, in fact, say that such children should not read textbooks at all, but since this means a great handicap when it comes to education, there is usually a compromise in the form of special classes where books are used as little as possible.

There are few things as harrowing to a doctor as to see a child whose sight is slowly but surely getting worse. I know of one such case, a child of a very dear friend of mine. When he was very young I recognized that his sight was failing. I am not an eye specialist and so I advised the parents to take the child to the city. There they were told the awful truth—the child was going blind. And yet the little fellow prattles about the day when his eyes will be well. His great ambition is to be a hockey player—and that takes good eyes.

Religious Education Program Of YWCA

Y. W. C. A. Is Truly A Christian Association, Mrs. Glenn Throop Says

Mrs. Glenn Throop, chairman of the religious education committee of the Y. W. C. A., describes the work of the Young Women's Christian Association as the work of Christians in action.

Speaking on the occasion of the opening of the annual ingathering of memberships, Mrs. Throop said that "several years ago, while soliciting memberships for the Y. W. C. A., I was questioned about the religious work conducted by the association. I have since served on the religious education committee and have learned it is the earnest desire of the Y. W. C. A. to give its members and general public a full program along many lines, and including a religious education program open to everyone."

The religious work of this season was opened in October with a series of lessons conducted at the "Y" by Rev. W. V. McLean of the First Methodist church. Then on December 19 there was a candlelight, Christmas service, and at the present time Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine of the First Presbyterian church is conducting Lenten classes each Thursday morning at 10:30. The various girls clubs have devotions, and candlelighting services, for the recognition of all new members, and for Sunday evening camp worship service.

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

DEDUCTION FOR TRAVELING EXPENSES

To obtain a deduction for traveling expenses, which form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers, certain regulations must be observed. The taxpayer is required to attach to his return a statement showing the nature of business in which engaged, number of days away from home during the taxable year on account of business, total amount of expense incidental to meals and lodging, and total amount of "other expenses" incident to travel and claimed as a deduction. Among the "other expenses" are tips, provided they are reasonable in amount.

Traveling expenses are deductible only when the trip is on business. They are limited to such expenses as are reasonable and necessary in the conduct of the business and directly attributable to it.

Traveling expenses incurred in connection with a journey to another city to accept or seek employment are not deductible. Suburbanites who commute daily from their homes to their places of business are not permitted to deduct the cost of transportation, it being a personal expense.

Claims for deduction for traveling expenses must be substantiated, when required by the commissioner of internal revenue, showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses incurred.

CONTEST MEMBERS CHOSEN

The members for the Forensic contest on March 30 have been chosen to meet in Slippery Rock against other schools in Declamation, Original Oration, Poetry Reading, Shakespeare Reading, Extemporaneous Speaking and Group Discussion.

The members are as following:

Declamation—Bill Horean; original oration, Ruth Ames; poetry reading, Bernard Kielar; Shakespeare reading, Louis Hilty; extemporaneous speaking, Joe Mitcheltree and group discussion, Sylvia Wolonin.

GROUP PICTURES TAKEN

The school's class pictures were taken last Thursday by a local photographer. Each class and club had their pictures taken during different periods of the day, also the basketball and football teams. These pictures were taken for the annual to be published at the end of the year by the senior class.

CHORUS SINGS

The Union High Chorus will sing over WKST Tuesday at 2:45 o'clock. The chorus is now preparing for the Forensic contest, and will sing some of their contest music on Tuesday.

They are going to sing "Blessings Of Peace," "O Boni Jesu," "Let Thy Merciful Ears O'Lord, and Now Let All the Heavens Adore Thee."

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"The stormy March has come at last,

With winds and clouds and changing skies."

Bryant, the poet, loved nature, but feared March.

March may be very deceptive and herald spring.

Do not yield to the siren's call.

There may come snow and ice and tempest.

Certainly there will come sickness during March.

People's resistance is low during this month.

Children need special care against the contagious diseases.

They need proper food at proper time.

Rest is more important than recreation during March.

Play safe in March and watch your March step.

Federal Surplus Commodities Furnishes Food, NYA Serves It

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 4.—Hot lunches at little or no cost are now being provided thousands of undernourish school children in Pennsylvania through cooperation of the National Youth Administration and the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, it was announced by Walter S. Cowing, state N.Y.A. administrator.

Local school officials, the N.Y.A., and F.S.C.C. are working together in operating school cafeteries. The schools supply the space and some equipment, the F.S.C.C. the food, and the N.Y.A. the waitresses and other help. Similar cafeterias have been set up in N.Y.A. youth centers and workshops.

"This type of work," said Cowing, "is proving especially valuable to schools in rural areas where youngsters have to walk or ride many miles to school and cannot get home for a hot noon-time meal. In many cases the school children are from families who cannot afford such meals."

Stove Manufacture Still Big Business

Many Types Of Stoves Are Being Produced In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 4.—One of Pennsylvania's oldest industries, the manufacture of stoves and heaters, is today a $20,000,000 business, giving employment to more than 4,000 persons with an annual payroll in excess of $5,000,000.

Gas ranges, coal stoves and many types of non-electric heaters are the product of this industry, which numbers among its Pennsylvania beginnings the famous "Bible in Iron" of the Pennsylvania Germans and the artistic tile stoves of the Moravians.

The industry is not confined to any one locality, a survey made by the state planning board for the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce discloses, there being 52 plants in twenty-three counties.

Snow Valuable In Many Ways

Snow has been the topic of much conversation for a number of weeks; the damage it causes, the inconvenience it brings, and the work that has to be done in connection with much snow, in its removal, to expedite travel.

On the other hand, Owen Fox states that snow plays a large part in the scheme of nature, when it blankets the earth. Snow is the poor man's fertilizer; it adds growing minerals to the grass and gives it winter protection. Cold, freezing days without snow have a tendency to heave the grass roots, thus causing them to freeze out. Winters of much snow bring more wild flowers in the woods. But for the snow, these tender wild plants would freeze out. Fox states that, in the case of the rosettes of the milk weed, when the rosettes are covered all winter by snow, the latter acts like glass in a greenhouse, and the rosettes grow and expand to a large size; otherwise they are quite small in the spring, or have been frozen.

HOW YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.97 A MONTH

No endorsers or guarantors needed—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Prompt, friendly service.

You can get cash at Household Finance simply and promptly, if you can repay your loan in monthly installments. You may repay in very small installments if you prefer. Or you may make larger payments in order to pay up sooner. From the table below you choose the payment schedule which best fits your own needs and your own income.

Pick your own payment schedule

Suppose you need $100 and can conveniently repay $9.75 a month. The table below shows that your installments will repay a $100 loan from Household Finance in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.97 a month for eighteen months will also repay a $100 loan.

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments are calculated at Household's rate of 2½% per month on the first $100 of balances, and 2% per month on balances above $100, which is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

B. E. HENDERSON, PRESIDENT

PENN

Find the amount of cash you need in the first column of the loan table. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment you can conveniently make out of your regular monthly income.

Sooner you repay your loan the less it costs

Note, in the last column of the table, that you may make very small payments if you prefer. See also that the sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Four installments of $26.58 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. The cost in this case is only $6.32. (All payments shown in the table include the charges. You pay nothing more.)

One rate to everyone

Household has only one price—the same rate to all, whether new customers or former borrowers.

What you do to borrow

All you do to get a Household Finance loan is acquaint us with your needs. We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No questions regarding your credit are asked of friends or relatives, neither do you have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get your loan promptly, privately and without embarrassment.

Study the loan and payment table. See how you can repay the loan you need with a small part of your pay check. Then phone or visit us today. You will be under no obligation.

St. David's Day Celebrated Here

Judge Jenkins Makes Address At Banquet On Saturday Night

DAVIES PRESIDES DURING PROGRAM

St. David's Day was celebrated Saturday evening by two hundred Welsh people and friends, in an annual banquet at the First Christian church.

The gathering was opened by the singing of "America" by those assembled. Rev. Rees T. Williams gave the invocation. Before and after the dinner, there was singing of hymns and familiar songs by the audience, led by Emrys Davis.

Davies Presides

Greetings in Welsh and English were given by Councilman D. O. Davies, who proved quite efficient as toastmaster of the evening.

Remarks were made by Miss Louise Davies, president of Martha Lodge; Sol Davies, vice president of Star of Wales Lodge, and Daniel Hughes, secretary of the Grand Lodge, True Ivorites of America.

The program included trumpet solos of Welsh airs, "Marsh of Rhuddlan" and "Rising of the Lark" by Robert Evans; vocal solo, "Cymru fydd," Griff Thomas; reading, "Jean Desprez," by Mrs. Frances Cope; vocal solos, "Gwlad y delyn" and "Queen of May," Mrs. Margaret Morris; vocal solo, "God Bless America," Miss Florrie Davies, with all joining in chorus.

William Pritchard, oldest Ivorite present, and William Phillips, each gave a splendid original St. David's Day Welsh poem.

The toastmaster introduced Judge David G. Jenkins of Youngstown, guest speaker, who delivered the address of the evening.

Judge Jenkins Speaks

Judge Jenkins, at the outset, greeted his fellow jurists, Judges W. Walter Braham and Thomas Dickey, who sat at the guest table with him, saying he remembered the latter in his boyhood days. Remembering his graduation from New Castle high school in 1900, he was thankful for his training in this community in admirable Americanism, the foundation of his opportunity to serve. The speaker dealt with the crisis of civilization, how its heritage had been attacked, its march retarded, and hard fought gains of liberty in danger; of the threat of ruthless forces toward religion, human personality, ethics and morals. Judge Jenkins spoke of the Cymric or Welsh spirit, as a deep moral force, an unquenchable flame. Welsh people have always striven for individual rights and independence, and freedom of speech. In conclusion, he said, "If tonight we have revived the spirit of our forbears, we shall have strengthened the tough strand, our ancient people have contributed to the interwoven cable of American life and ideals, and shall have helped to hold fast the anchor of our liberties and civilization."

The hymn "Babel" was sung by the audience, in memory of the Ivorites departed during the past year, closing with the singing of the Welsh National Anthem.

Rev. Rees T. Williams pronounced the benediction.

The occasion was sponsored by the Star of Wales and Martha Lodges of True Ivorites of America, of this city. General chairman, Henry T. Jones; secretary, Miss Louise Davis; treasurer, Thomas D. Thomas; committee, Rev. Rees T. Williams, David B. Lewis, Mrs. Charlotte Francis, Mrs. Mabel Stevenson, I. J. Lewis, Emrys Lewis, Mrs. Margaret Thomas, Mrs. Rose Mort, Mrs. Alice Newell.

Mrs. John M. Evans was accompanist of the evening.

There were guests from Aliquippa, Ellwood City and Youngstown.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

FREQUENT GATHERING IMPROVES EGG QUALITY

If you're trying to produce eggs of high quality, gather them three times daily in wire baskets. Frequent gathering reduces the number of soiled eggs and also hastens the removal of natural heat from the eggs.

It is a good plan to pack eggs daily just as soon as all the natural animal heat has been removed from them. There are too many producers who still pack only once or twice a week. In packing, place the small ends down. When the eggs are in the baskets, they may be on their sides or with the small end down. If the yolk is close to the shell at the time of candling, the shadow will be darker and the egg will be placed in a lower grade. This may happen if the eggs are packed with the small end up.

It is advisable to store empty cases in the egg cellar for several days in advance to their use. This permits them to cool and to absorb the same percentage of moisture as in the air of the room. Keep both empty and filled cases off the floor.

For increased efficiency, the egg cellar should be divided into two rooms. The one room is used for cooling and holding the eggs, and the other for cleaning, grading and packing. Such an egg cellar enables a producer to maintain high egg quality.

DIP CRATES IN KEROSENE TO KILL CODLING MOTHS

For orchardists unable to reduce the amount of codling moth damage by ordinary spraying practices, a number of supplementary methods have been found which give excellent results under certain conditions.

For example several demonstrations conducted last year by the agricultural extension service of the Pennsylvania State college showed the value of killing hibernating larvae in crates before the moths emerge in the spring. In one instance, 5,500 crates were dipped in kerosene late in April, the owner using 600 gallons of kerosene at a cost of $48. The crates were stored in an open shed. By October when they were needed for harvest, all odor from the kerosene had disappeared and the crates showed little discoloration.

Counts of the larvae made in early June revealed as many as seven worms per crate. Dipping with kerosene killed 97 per cent of these larvae. Similar results were obtained in another demonstration where 1,000 crates were dipped in 100 gallons of kerosene.

Both orchardists were so well convinced of the economy and efficiency of the practice that they intend to make it a regular part of their codling moth control program.

Tightly screening storage rooms was also found to help reduce codling moth damage. In one case, the loft of an old barn was used as storage place for 1,500 apple crates. The loft was tight with windows at both ends. The owner counted the moths which collected on the windows as they emerged. He caught 1,192. Liquid attractive to the insects was placed in the orchard surrounding the building. Only 294 codling moths were captured. In another set of bait pails placed in trees surrounding an open crate storage shed, the catch of codling moths for the same period was 917.

PERMANENT REPAIR OF TREES IS POSSIBLE

Do you have wounded trees about your home whose usefulness and beauty can be extended by the application of proper treatment? By following a few fundamental principles, permanently good results can be obtained in the repair of wounded trees.

First, remove all decayed, diseased or injured wood or bark. When it is on a limb, this can often be done best by removing the entire limb.

However, if the trouble is on a large limb or on the trunk, it may be necessary to cut out the decayed part, leaving a cavity.

Next sterilize all surfaces. Protect all cut surfaces from external moisture and other injurious external agencies by application of a more permanent dressing over the sterilized surface. Leave the work in the most favorable condition for rapid healing. This may necessitate filling deep cavities.

The simplest type of repair consists in removing dead or dying branches of neglected or decayed stubs and in treating the wounds to prevent the entrance of decay-producing organisms and moisture during healing. A more complicated type consists in digging out decayed and diseased wood and treating the freshly cut surfaces of the cavities, and sometimes in filling the cavities with suitable material. Artificial filling of an ordinary cavity usually does not increase the strength of the trunk or limb. An improperly filled cavity is probably always a menace to a tree.

HOUSE WATER SUPPLY IS NOT OUT OF REACH

Because of mistaken ideas as to cost, many Lawrence County farmers still forego the advantages of a house water supply system.

A complete system with bathroom facilities may be beyond the immediate reach of many, but such facilities can be obtained on a gradual basis if plans are made carefully. The initial step is the installation of an electric motor and pumpjack, or an electric pump.

After the installation of the pumping equipment, pipes can be run from the well to the house and barn. A 3-way switch will make it possible to turn on the water at the house, barn, or pump. Next install a pressure tank and pressure controlled switch so that water is always available under pressure.

A hot water tank for the house is the next logical installation. Follow with bathroom equipment and a sewage disposal system. Use of a "T" with one side plugged in place of an elbow often will permit additions without disturbing the old piping.

Fire Threatens Business Block

Blaze Originates In Casino Cafe On Neshannock Avenue, Early Sunday Morning

Fire, which is believed to have been started by cigaret butts thrown into a pasteboard carton, caused a loss of $300 in the block occupied by the Casino cafe, and American Legion bingo headquarters at 422 Neshannock avenue, at 2:15 o'clock Sunday morning.

Five fire companies were summoned to the scene by an alarm from Box 26, and the blaze was quickly brought under control, the bulk of the damage being confined to the room occupied by the restaurant on the second floor.

The building is owned by the Euwer estate.

Retail Sales Gain Marked In State

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4.—The January boom in sales by independent retail stores was more marked in Pennsylvania than all states save Ohio, the Census Bureau reports.

Such sales in the Keystone State increased 14.6 per cent in January as compared with January 1939. In the country at large, the gain averaged only 7.7 per cent. Ohio outranked Pennsylvania with a jump of 19.8 per cent.

Due to the Christmas trading season, sales by independent retailers in Pennsylvania were 48 per cent greater in December than January.

Britain Guards Against Spies Landing In Chutes

By FREDERICK SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 4—Elaborate precautions have now been taken in England against the possibility of enemy agents infiltering by parachute.

Reports were recently circulating that enemy planes had during the night dropped spies by parachute in remote parts of England.

British authorities had no knowledge of such spy-dropping, but special defense plans were at once prepared to deal with such an exigency.

A special watch is now being kept along the entire east coastlines and also inland.

Reports are also made on the passage and direction of all planes. These reports are sent to air defense detachments all over England and any necessary action is taken. The official attitude is not to ignore any possibility of parachute descents by spies.

Detailed instructions have been sent to all detachments of troops responsible for the safe-keeping of railway bridges, junctions and tunnels, power stations and other vital points. The possibility of sabotage is nowhere to be overlooked.

German spies, completely disguised in the uniform and equipment of the Polish army, were dropped in Poland during the early weeks of the war.

Although many were shot before they reached the ground, others managed to damage telephone lines and cables, power stations, railroad lines and other vital services.

If such spies were able to land and reach the highly industrialized and densely populated cities of England they could create much damage.

There are miles of desolate moorland where a parachute spy could land unobserved in the darkness.

C. D. Of A. Court Initiation Ritual Is Most Impressive

Many Distinguished Guests Attend Ceremony And Banquet On Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, March 4.—Completely delightful in every respect was the initiation service held on Sunday afternoon by members of the local court of the National Catholic Daughters of America at the Elks club assembly room. It was the first formal initiation of new members held in the past decade by the local court, which recently celebrated their 15th anniversary.

Associate members of courts of the Pittsburgh, Beaver Valley and New Castle districts joined in observing the momentous occasion.

Mrs. Della Crawford of Midland, district deputy, had charge of the ceremony with the local group taking part.

Following the ritual, a banquet was tendered the entire assemblage of 150 members and guests at the St. Agatha Catholic church. Fifth street. The delicious dinner was served at 5:30 o'clock by the junior troops.

The long tables were beautifully decorated in the court's colors, gold, purple and white, with the flowers adding further beauty in matching the color motif. All officers of the local court were becomingly attired in white formal gowns and wore pretty corsages of flowers, made up of the court colors.

Mrs. William Miller graciously presided as toastmistress and presented Miss Sarah Ruscille, this city, grand regent, who welcomed the guests. Congratulatory greetings were extended by Rev. Francis Paul, Rev. Robert Wilkey of this city, Rev. Baumer of Midland, Rev. Daisy Vinroe Has Birthday Party

ELLWOOD CITY, March 4.—One of the nicest parties of the season took place on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Vinroe in Ellport when some 30 friends of their daughter Daisy arrived surprise fashion to celebrate her 14th birthday anniversary.

Games and contests whiled away the hours in a merry manner with the prizes being won by the honor guest and Bill Wiltrout. At a late hour, the hostess was aided in serving a delicious lunch by Mrs. LaVerne Vinroe, Miss Violet Vinroe and Paul Roxbury.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts as remembrances of the happy occasion.

Lilyville Church To Build Parsonage

ELLWOOD CITY, March 4.—On Saturday evening, men of the Lilyville Church of God gathered at the home of Rev. L. A. Lightfritz, of Wurtemburg Heights, to organize a parsonage building association.

A building lot was given to the church sometime ago by John Hardy and the group enthusiastically agreed to break ground for the foundation of a six room house as soon as the weather is more suitable.

Ferd Kaufman was elected president and treasurer of the organization; Roy McDanel was named secretary and Rev. Lifhtfritz, chairman of the general committee.

Twenty men of the church attended the meeting which began with the serving of a most delectable dinner by Mrs. Lightfritz assisted by Mrs. Waterfield and Mary White.

Party Honors Tommy Rodgers

ELLWOOD CITY, March 4.—Marking the fifth birthday anniversary of her son Tommy, Mrs. Ted Rodgers pleasantly entertained at a birthday party on Saturday afternoon at their home on First avenue.

Games and contests of a variety occupied the attention of the ten little guests in a merry manner with the nice prizes being won by Nancy Ann Rutter and Betty Jean Feerst. A pretty yellow and white color motif was carried out in the serving of "party" refreshments by the hostess, aided by Mrs. Murray.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hardesty and the former's mother of Beaver Falls.

Tommy received many attractive gifts.

CHARGES ARE DENIED BY MORGANZA HEAD

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 4.—Morganza training school officials denied today that several months of solitary confinement was responsible for the mental condition of 18-year-old Ricka Pieretti, who was transferred to the Warren State Mental hospital last December.

Superintendent Kenneth H. Gordon, head of the institution, which is located at Morganza, near Canonsburg, asserted the youth was "mentally unstable" when he was sent to the training school in September, 1938. He doubted whether solitary confinement aggravated his mental condition.

ELLWOOD CITY, March 4.—A meeting of the Wayne W. C. T. U. planned for Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. John Houk, Castlewood, has been cancelled.

Driscoll Likely To Resign Place On State P. U. C.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 4.—Republican control of the five-member public utility commission loomed today as Chairman Dennis J. Driscoll said he was "seriously" considering resigning his position to accept a trusteeship for the Associated Gas and Electric Corporation.

Driscoll, a resident of St. Marys, Elk county, was appointed chairman of the PUC for a 10-year term by former Gov. George H. Earle in 1937.

Resignation of Driscoll would pave the way for Republican control of the commission where Democrats now enjoy a three-two majority.

He said he would make public his decision within several days.

"I'm getting along in years," Driscoll asserted, "and I must make some provision for the time when I am no longer able to work.

"The trusteeship pays more than twice as much as my present job—$10,500 annually—and I don't see now, in fairness to those dependent upon me, I can turn it down."

Pomona Grange Meets Saturday

Liberty Grange Members Are Hosts At March Meeting In Grange Hall

GRANGE VETERANS ARE GIVEN HONOR

Recognition was given members of Lawrence County Pomona Grange, who have been members of the grange for 25 consecutive years, and who have received Silver Sheaf Certificates for their continuous loyalty to the grange at the March meeting of Pomona Grange, which took place in Liberty Grange hall, Saturday, with the Liberty Grangers serving as hosts. The recognition service took place during the afternoon of a day crammed fully of interesting events.

Those honored were: Mrs. Anna Weigle, Mrs. Jessie C. Hunt, Stewart Hunt, and Norman Hunt, of Williard Grange; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson, Mrs. J. W. Cox, and Lawrence Cox, of Wilmington Grange; J. N. Fullerton, Mrs. George Clark, Mr. and Mrs. William Raney, R. S. McKim, S. D. Fullerton, and R. R. Douglass, of Westfield Grange; Charles A. Kerr, Martha Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Miller, and R. A. Nagel, of Big Beaver Grange.

Plaingrove Grange was awarded the prize for having the largest percentage of its membership present.

Pomona Master W. Sharp Fullerton, presided over the sessions. Mrs. J. A. Boak explained the work of the State Grange Home Economics committee, while Mrs. J. O. Cameron reported for the Pomona committee. She announced a meeting for all Subordinate Home Economics committees at Liberty Grange hall for Monday evening, March 4, at 8 o'clock. Miss Gertrude Chapin reported a series of Exchange programs for the seven Juvenile granges. Pomona Grange will open a series of radio programs on March 14.

The Grangers were welcomed by Russell Boak, Master of Liberty Grange, and Eugene Fox, Master of Pleasant Hill Grange responded.

Ray Marshall, of Pleasant Hill, field man for the D. C. S. A., presented Joseph Fisher, of Pittsburgh, who gave a talking picture, showing the importance of milk as a food.

An inspirational address was given by Rev. P. W. Chapin, of Willard Grange, who spoke on Sabbath observance and the "Go to Church" campaign. He stated that the automobile, radio, and movie are three great factors which are weaning people from church services on Sunday. He said the old custom of doing one's work in six days, and devoting the seventh day to rest and spiritual reflection was just as possible today as in the days of the past.

Several quartet numbers were rendered by Nick McCracken, Francis McCracken, Hugh Forbes and Frank Forbes, with Mrs. Nick McCracken accompanying.

A. H. Andrews, of the Greater New Castle Association gave an informative address on the future of New Castle and Lawrence county, pointing out how things which affected the interests of the city, also affected the welfare of those residing in the surrounding rural district.

Pomona Grange adopted a seven-point program, which is to be presented to the GNCA as a basis for closer cooperation between the city and rural residents of Lawrence county.

The June meeting will take place at Mahoning Valley Grange hall.

Weather Affects Records In Campaign Sunday

The rainy weather Sunday, March 3rd, together with the fact that the corresponding Sunday of last year had good attendances due to favorable weather, resulted in only six Sunday schools of the four, New Castle, groups having points in the "Loyalty" increase campaign that is being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School association. The Sunday schools gaining points yesterday were the Highland U. P. with 46, the First Christian with 10, the Second U. P. with 44, the Central Presbyterian with 69, the Madison Ave. Christian with 9, and the St. John's Lutheran with 30.

The Sunday schools having gains yesterday in the districts outside of New Castle, were as follows: Mt. Jackson district—the Edinburg Christian, 8; the Mt. Jackson U. P., 9; and the Bethel U. P., 20.

The Wampum district group had the best general attendance of any group in the county, five out of seven Sunday schools reporting gains for March 3rd. Moravia Presbyterian, 17; West Pittsburgh Methodist, 28; Wampum Presbyterian, 38; Wampum Methodist, 10, and Clinton Methodist, 26.

In the Ellwood district group the Bell Memorial Presbyterian gained 25 points yesterday, and in the Wilmington district group the Shenango U. P. gained 7 points, the Rich Hill Presbyterian 3 points, the East Brook U. P. 32 points and the East Brook Methodist 28 points—all of these points being gained yesterday in spite of the inclement weather. In the Slippery Rock district the Neshannock U. P. had the same attendance as they had the corresponding Sunday of last year—64.

Percentage standings of some of the districts outside of New Castle will be run later this week. Below are the percentage standings of the four, New Castle, groups.

Declares High School Teams Are Playing Too Lengthy Schedules

By TOM R. BRISLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

HARRISBURG, March 4.—Pennsylvania high schools were warned that "if the principle of local control in athletics is to continue, excessive game schedules must be voluntarily curtailed to come within the bounds of common sense."

The warning was issued by Edmund C. Wicht, secretary of the Pennsylvania Inter-Scholastic Athletic Association, which claims more than 850 members.

Wicht said that reports reaching the PIAA headquarters here indicated that a number of schools throughout the state were fostering "big way" schedules of 30 games a year in basketball and 12 game a season in football.

"Let's be sane," Wicht declared emphatically. "Never for a moment should we forget that we are in charge of maturing youths whose health protection is paramount to all else."

Wicht explained that the question of the limitation of the number of football and basketball games a high school team should play in a particular season "is receiving serious attention by school administrators, not only in Pennsylvania, but in other states."

He pointed out that when the PIAA board of control asked member schools several years ago to express opinions whether an amendment should be submitted limiting the number of basketball games to 18 per season and football games to nine, votes were cast in favor of the football amendment and 170 against, while 208 favored the basketball amendment and 159 opposed it.

"The majority in favor," Wicht asserted, "was 12, but it showed the trend."

Wicht indicated, however, that some high schools favored the extra-long seasons because of the financial gains involved. One principal wrote him, Wicht said, that the support of his entire athletic program "depends on football gate receipts."

Still another principal wrote that with an enrollment of 93 boys an "ambitious coach" had asked for a basketball schedule of 30 games.

"Isn't there a rule against this?" Wicht quoted the educator as asking.

"Many laws are prohibitive in nature," he added, "and come into being because of the abuse of the privilege of self determination by a few.

"It can hardly be understood how any individual with the welfare of high school athletes at heart could approve a 30-game basketball schedule for a 93-boy school or any other school regardless of size, and 12 games of football from mid-September to December 1st is too much football for high school boys in any man's language."

Wicht said that New York state has mandatory rules limiting the maximum number of football games to seven a season, and basketball games to 16 a season, exclusive of sectional games.

"In New York, however," he explained, "inter-school athletics are supported from taxation. Gate receipts are not important there."

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Bowlers hereabouts are acclaiming Mrs. Alice Cunningham of Butler avenue as the best woman bowler in this city, she having turned in a score of 942 pins for five consecutive games, her average being slightly better than 188 per game. Her scores were 196, 176, 175, 236 and 159. According to veteran bowlers, it may not be long until she tumbles more than 942 maples in five games because, they point out, she improves with every try on the alleys.

Seabiscuit won the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap Saturday. When he outcharged his 12 rivals he became the greatest money winner of all time. Many Stings was second. Many Stings captured the Widener challenge cup also Saturday, winning over a field of 13 stake horses at Hialeah park, Miami. The Chief was second.

Jimmy Demaret of Houston, with $6,077, was listed today as the leading money winner of the winter golfing season....Eddie Shore has been fined $500 because he failed to appear with his team in Providence last night against the Reds...Red Lucas, veteran National league [illegible] handed pitcher, has signed [illegible] Jersey City in the Inter[illegible] league.

Gersons Defeat Hill Billies In Game Here Sunday

Nationally Known Girls Team Put Up Fine Game, But Lose 24-23

Before a large crowd of basketball fans Sunday afternoon at the Arena floor the Gerson Jewelers basketball team defeated the nationally know Ozark Hill Billies girls team 24 to 23.

The Gersons led the first period 6 to 4, and at the half 12 to 9. The Hill Billies had their best scoring spree in the third period making 13 points to six for the Jewelers. In the final period the Gersons scored six points to one for the girls. Scoring stars for the Hill Billies were Darrow and Muncrief. For the Gersons there were no standouts.

Very Fine Team

The Hill Billies proved to be good shots, fine blockers and can handle the ball very well. The fans were very well pleased with the manner in which the Hill Billies performed. The Gersons were extended to the limit to win the game. The girls play as rough as any man's team. On Muncrief and Darrow the New Castle fans saw two of the best girl players in the entire country.

The Hill Billies have played in 32 states and have covered 25,000 miles since their organization.

Wednesday the Gersons and Epworth meet at the "Y" floor.

Nickie Gennock the Gersons star center had to have doctors treatment following the game, receiving a bad scratch on the eye-ball during one of the mixups, in the excitement of the game. He will be out of the lineup for a week or more.

HOUSE LEAGUE GAMES

Two House League games will be played this week at the "Y" floor. The Jewels meet the A. Z. A. team tonight and the Jewels and Celtics tangle Wednesday night. All games start at 7 o'clock.

PATTY NOT ON SHORT END

Patty Berg and Clara Callender

Patty Berg may be on the short end of it here but she wasn't in the mid-Florida women's golf tourney at Orlando Patty won that from Clara Callender of California, her tall friend at right.

Sports World Ramblings

Local tales in tidbits:—Hershel Baltimore, the ex-A. Z. A. cage ace, holds down the center berth on Penn State's undefeated freshman combination. The tall flipper has been a main cog all season. Against Bucknell's freshies, the local athlete pumped in nine points. He is not an ex-New Castle High passer. . . . Norbert Borowicz, New Wilmington High's talented forward, is only 14 years old and ranks as one of the youngest performers in the WPIAL Class B circle. . . .

Johnny Dean, the upcoming middleweight, performed in his 100th bout against Freddie Lenn. The ex-Marine has lost only 11 times. A third Dean-Lenn meeting is in the making. . . . William "Bill" Klee, the Hurricane track manager, expects to unloosen his New Castle High cinder pathers in about two weeks, he hopes. . . . New Wilmington High took 54 shots during their clash with West Newton and potted 15 field goals. . . .

It's safe to go to Florida now. The weather is traditionally Florida, Rick Monsey and Frank Summers, who are vacationing there, assure your newsboy. The type of climate the advertisement brags about has arrived, the local golf fiend states. Living eight blocks away from the Yanks' training quarters and about the same distance away from the stamping grounds of the Cards, the localities are constantly on the lookout. "With fellows like Mize, Keller, Dickey, Rolfe, Gordon, etc., taking a cut at baseballs, you can't tell when you're liable to get bumped on the head. You know, when they swing, they go for distance," Rick and Frank report. . . .

Diamond niblets:—Bill Dickey is the only remaining member of those original great Yankees teams of the late 20's. Bill caught 10 games in 1928. . . . Paul Derringer's base-on-balls average is one free ticket in every six frames. During the '39 flag chase, Derringer passed out Annie Oakleys to only 35 men in 301 innings, averaging one base on balls every 8.6 innings. . . . Ray Phelps, scrappy Dodgers catcher, is 10 pounds overweight. . . . Whit Wyatt, Dodger star, says he'll win 20 games this year. . . .

Banquet Leaders Will Meet Tonight

W. Henry Rodgers, general chairman of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association's 17th annual banquet has called a meeting for tonight at 8:00 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. All members and committees will attend as many important matters are to be discussed. Sam Frank and Dick Roberts have many important topics to discuss before the body tonight.

PASS THE COLE-SLAW, GRANDPAP!

Rolfe Bulling

Come on up for a fish dinner, brothers and sisters, for we've got plenty. You sure have, mister, and what beauties! Rolfe Bulling of Hastings, Mich., speared these muskellunge through the ice of Thornapple lake near his home on successive days. State conservation officials said it is the greatest catch of muskellunge ever made in two days of fishing on any Michigan lake. The two weigh 77 pounds.

'Greyhounds' Gird For Point Marion

Fayette County Quint Has Finesse; Game Thursday In Pittsburgh Stadium

New Wilmington High's cage luminaries are girding for their WPIAL Class B tourney battle with Point Marion, Thursday night, on the Pitt Stadium court.

The classy "Greyhounds," riding the crest of a 21-game winning streak, are two victories away from the coveted championship. After drawing a first round bye, the miniature Titans hurdled West Newton, 35-29, in a quarter-final affair.

Point Marion, standard bearer of Section 23, made its tourney debut against Dunbar. The Pointers emerged victorious, 39-22. Friday night, the Fayette County court specialists dished out an abundance of basketball finesse to squash Etna, 33-16.

Coach John Eagleson watched the Pointers in action against Etna and came back with a newspaper column full of good tidings concernings Point Marion's team. The local tutor anticipates a nip and tuck battle.

The Section 20 kings are going through a special training grind designed by Eagleson. New Wilmington ends practice sessions, Wednesday afternoon.

Tickets for the semi-final tilt are on sale at the New Wilmington High School and at the Sporting Goods Store, East Washington street. The pasteboards are worth 40 cents.

News Briefs From City Hall

Street department today was notified that the cartway of the Clenmore boulevard-North Mercer street intersection has sunk. The notice was given to the department by the police department.

Prowlers were reportedly active last night in several sections. However, no apprehensions were made. One prowler was reported operating in East Long avenue and another in Maryland avenue.

Police receive odd requests, one of which was telephoned to headquarters last night. A woman wanted the operator of a certain auto arrested. When requested to give her name and the reason why the man should be arrested she told the police "it is none of your business", they reported today.

Patrolman U. G. Harper returned to work yesterday following an illness.

Believe Conn And Joe Louis To Meet Soon

Believe Heavyweight Champion And Pittsburgher To Fight In September

DAVIES TO LOSE FIVE OF DUKES

By ED. KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, March 4.—Fragmentary sports comments:

Duquesne university's great basketball squad which met defeat only once in 17 starts this year will lose five seniors from the team in June . . . but the rub is that not one of them played on the first team.

The brunt of Coach Chick Davies' attack was carried by juniors and sophomores . . . and it should be added his freshman outfit was victorious in 26 of 28 games played . . . in other words, you ain't seen nothing yet . . . wait'll next year.

Fashion plate John Cuff has been named chairman of the membership committee of the American College Publicity association . . . Cuff is chief tub-thumper at Scranton university.

Boxing Tourney

The Eastern Interscholastic Boxing association's 17th annual tournament will be held at Pennsylvania State college over the coming weekend . . . Army is the defending champion, with Syracuse a heavy favorite to unseat the Cadets.

Scholarly Ted Klepac has been licensed by the state boxing commission to act as a referee . . . When not parting the pugs, Klepac is teaching school in Wilkes-Barre township . . . We might remind the professor's pupils that he was intercollegiate middleweight champion at Western Maryland . . . and he also was boxing coach at Scranton university.

Kid Flu forced Bill Reedy, sports editor of the Reading Eagle, to the sidelines last week . . . We wish for a speedy recovery for the sports authority.

When Billy Conn's adviser came to him in Florida and told him the scheduled fight with Gus Lesnevich was called off because of the boils under the light-heavyweight champion's right arm, Conn countered:

"Holy smokes, why did you have to go and do that? I can lick that guy with one hand."

Conn vs. Louis

Incidentaly, best inside information is that Conn will fight Louis in September for the heavyweight title . . . that is, providing Conn can win his next two battles.

Frankie Frisch, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, claims a baseball pilot "never knows his ball players until he has lived with them." . . . Therefore he is not making any comment on how the Buccaneers will finish in the National league race for the time being.

This may be the last year for the long-drawn-out P. I. A. A. basketball tourney . . . Edmund Wicht, head of the association, condemns them on the grounds that they impair the health of maturing high school athletes . . . If you have any suggestions for changing the present tournament set-up, send them along to Wicht in Harrisburg . . . and if you have a panacea for the association's point system in football, send that, too.

Tony Zale, the Chicago middleweight who got off the floor to beat Al Hostak, the west coast wizard takes his mother along to his training camps . . . "Can't win without ma's cooking," says Zale.

Factor Girls Are Defeated

The Factor girls lost a tough battle Sunday at the Falcon floor to the New Kensington Red, White and Blue All-Americans, coached by George Factor, former New Castle boy. The score was 15 to 12.

One of the largest crowds of the year packed the Falcon hall for the game. The girls had the fans standing and yelling most of the time. The Factors lost the game at the foul line, making but one out of 14 tries.

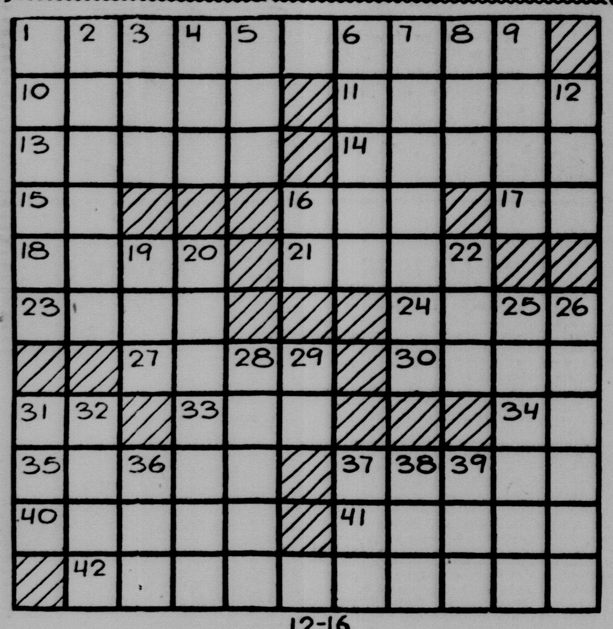

The all-around playing of Miss Ann Factor for the visitors was the outstanding feature. She made 10 of the 15 points. Best for the local girls was Jean Cerrutti, Helen Uram, Tim Gall and Jenny Augustine.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

The rains came . . . yes and the ice is going. Thus things are looking better and many a disgusted voice is sounding somewhat more pleasant. That is all we are going to say about this time of year . . . no use of us getting the blame for spoiling the weather all the time.

* * *

She's home and now we feel the importance of the roll we have to fill. The first night was a good one . . . not much crying, we hope those that follow will be as good and better.

* * *

The Lawrence County Sportsman Association will hold their annual dinner and get-together on the night of March 28th. From reports it will be a grand and glorious affair. A full course chicken dinner, just two after-dinner speakers; sound, technicolor wildlife pictures and a floor show. That sounds like a lot for the money. Last year the association had the largest dinner of any sportsman group in Pennsylvania . . . this year should equal that and maybe surpass the attendance mark. Keep reading the sports page.

Some of you folks no doubt have ideas about the counting of the days in leap year . . . Here is a problem that employes that very idea. On a year that was NOT a leap year twins were born . . . one was born a few minutes before midnight on the 28th of February . . . the other twin was born a few minutes after midnight, which would be March 1st. Now in leap year what happens? The twins that were born minutes apart will now be hours apart . . . Question: When should the second twin celebrate her birthday? . . . Now folks this is a serious question and we would apprciate your answers.

When spring does come the street repair department will have quite a job filling in the holes on the North Mercer street hill. The last time they fixed this hill was last summer . . . and it has held up very fine. We hope they do as good a job this year.

Sluggish Pace Seen In Market

Price Changes In Stock Market Today Are Of Minor Proportions

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 4.—The stock market firmed today after a dull and mixed opening, but trading continued at an extremely sluggish pace. Price changes were of minor proportions.

Featuring was the unusual activity in a "penny" stock—Seaboard Air Line. It opened on 100 shares at ⅜, up ⅛, and followed with five successive blocks of 10,000 shares each at ¼ before another sale was made at ⅜. The stock's turnover of better than 50,000 shares accounted for more than a third of the total market volume of 140,000 shares in the first hour.

Specialties accounted for the bulk of the remaining early sales, with Loft and Austin Nichols most prominent.

Bethlehem moved up almost a point to lead the advance in steel shares, while U. S. Steel converted an opening decline of ⅛ into a gain of about a half-point. Republic Steel rose as much.

General Motors and Chrysler wiped out minor losses, while coppers, rail equipments, chemicals and most rails moved a shade above Saturday's closing levels. Oils, rubbers and mail orders were mixed.

Majority of utilities developed steadier tendencies following last week's fair-sized reaction.

POMONA AUDIENCE HEARS ANDREWS

GNCA-Grange Co-operation Explained By Association Executive

Problems of special concern either to rural groups or city groups are today of equal importance to the other, Lawrence County Pomona Grange members were told Saturday afternoon by Arthur H. Andrews, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association.

The G.N.C.A. officer discussed the developing city-rural co-operative movement which is jointly being guided by grange leaders and the agricultural co-operative committee of the association.

Pomona Master W. Sharp Fullerton presided at the March meeting in Liberty Grange hall, Harlansburg road. Fullerton, present assemblyman, is chairman of the special grange committee working out the new program with the G.N.C.A.

Granges of the county have from the outset had a direct representation in the affairs of the Greater New Castle Association.

WATCH OUT FOR A KISS, PAULETTE!

If Arturo Godoy's antics in the ring with Joe Louis recently can be taken as an indication of his friendliness, Paulette Goddard, the screen actress, better watch out for a Godoy kiss. The Chile heavy hugged Louis at the end of their 15-round match. Godoy and his wife, not pictured, are in Hollywood on a visit.

Dewey Predicts New Deal Trip to "Woodshed"

Failure of the New Deal to show a single passing grade on its "report card" dooms it to a trip to the "woodshed" during the fall elections, said New York District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, GOP presidential candidate, at the Albany dinner of the Republican Association of Rural Counties. At the dinner, left to right, James E. Nash, association president; Dewey; Frederick H. Bontecou, toastmaster; Miss Florence Wardell and Mrs. Dewey. (Central Press)

Allies Concentrate on Cutting Nazi Trade Lines

Germany's greatest war problem is one of supply. Iron, oil and food imports are of vital importance to her. Her iron problem involves Sweden and Norway. Her oil shortage involves Rumania and Russia. Her food needs put Hungary and Rumania on the anxious seat. Italy comes into the picture as a transfer agent of supplies bound for Germany. Progress of war sees Allies concentrating more and more on cutting the Nazis' import and export lines. (Central Press)

Teachers Will Get New Rating

Will Have National Rating Following Impending Examinations by Committee

DR. BEN GRAHAM ONE OF MEMBERS

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 4.—Pennsylvania school teachers and prospective school teachers will soon have an opportunity to participate in a unique rating plan to be conducted on a nationwide scale.

The purpose of the plan is to provide major school executives with an index of individual abilties for use in the selection of teachers. The absence of this information on a thoroughly comparable basis has heretofore placed the well qualified graduates of some institutions at a disadvantage.

The examinations, which will be given in four Pennsylvania cities, as well as 15 out-of-state points, on March 29 and 30, will be conducted under the auspices of the American Council on Education, with a grant from the Carnegie Foundation. The project is in charge of ten educators known as the national committee on teacher examinations. Dr. Alexander J. Stoddart, superintendent of schools in Philadelphia, is chairman; and Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of Pittsburgh schools, is a member.

In Pennsylvania the examinations will be conducted in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, State College, and at Allentown for local candidates only. The other points at which they will be given are Atlanta, Ga., Cincinnati, O., Des Moines, Iowa; Elizabeth, N. J.; Lincoln, Neb.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Oakland, Cal.; Providence, R. I.; Washington, D. C., Yonkers, N. Y.; Youngstown, O.; Boston University; Milwaukee State Teachers College; University of Nebraska; and University of Wisconsin.

According to a statement by the committee, every effort will be made "to make tests that will measure ability to use knowledge and apply principles and generalizations to problems and situations that simulate as closely as possible those that the candidates will meet in actual school work."

Intelligence, general social background, awareness of current social problems, professional education information, and mastery of subject-matter are among the data to be tested. Such qualities or personality as health, interest in pupils, social sensitivity, and character will be left to the judgment of local school authorities.

Finds Temperature Can Vary Greatly

State College Savant Discovers 24-Degree Difference Within Few Miles

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 4.—Don't argue with your neighbor a half mile or so down the pike if he tells you it's "ten below" at his place when your thermometer does not even show zero. You may both be right.

That is the conclusion drawn at the Pennsylvania State College by William S. Clarke, Jr., instructor in pomology. Clarke has found variations of as much as 24 degree between the official temperature on the campus and a cold spot in the college orchard a mile and a half away.

It's on days when the mercury takes a nosedive that greatest divergence can be expected. On one such day, Clarke found the temperatur on the campus to be 11 above, at the Orchard buildings four below, and in a frosty hollow of the college orchard a short distance away 13 below.

Photographers looking for pictures of the horrors of war can get a fairly good substitute by shooting a picture of the supports in the front office of the prothonotary and clerk of courts. Huge eight by eight oak beams are holding the ceiling up while the work of tearing out a piece of wall and the installation of a cross beam of steel goes on.

The ceiling is constructed of steel, brick and concrete and has a total weight of about 30 tons or about 250 pounds per square foot. The reason for the weight is that the ceiling is built to resist fire. Had ordinary beams been used to shore up the ceiling it might have collapsed.

William Shook, who has been serving a term for breaking and entering, was paroled Saturday by the court.

A lady of New Wilmington writes a rather vigorous letter to The News protesting that she had been refused the right to register as a member of the Prohibition party. She complains that her liberties are restricted because of the fact and apparently wants to know how come.

It is true that the lady was refused registration as a Prohibitionist. It would have been just as true if she had tried to register as a member of any other party save the Republican and Democratic. The reason is that legally these parties do not exist in Pennsylvania because they failed to poll the required percentage of the votes in the last general election.

Any group of people may form a political party and if enough votes are gathered in an election the party is listed upon the ballot. Otherwise there is no listing. So few people voted the Prohibition ticket in the last general election that the party name has been dropped from the ballot.

The fault is not that of the permanent registration office, nor of the county commissioners. The fault, if any, is to be found in the fact that the law provides such a restriction.

Your bank roll is just $34,665.21 lighter as the result of the expenditures for February in the general fund of the county. County Controller Frank W. Hill and his staff have compiled a recap of the expenditures and they are divided as follows:

Permanent registration cost $442.92. Tax assessment cost $984.25, weights and measures $75.

The only expense connected with the coroner's office was $124.70 for a bond.

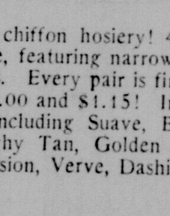

Perhaps you have read enough of figures for a while. The balance of the compilation will be run Tuesday and Wednesday.

Today is the last day for filing petitions for nomination and Chief Clerk William A. Eakin is through handing out the petitions. The list isn't so heavy and the primary ballot on April 23 will not be so large. The largest number of candidates is in the first legislative district which is New Castle. The two parties together have nine candidates.

'THE MANSION' WILL BE READ WEDNESDAY

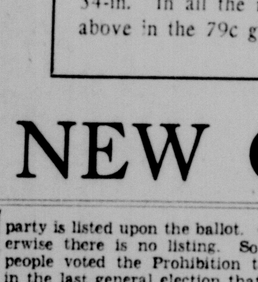

The reading of Henry VanDyke's "The Mansion" will take place next Wednesday evening at the 7:45 o'clock Church Night service in the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. James R. Green will be the reader. Miss Zehner will furnish the musical accompaniment. Dr. A. B. Foster is chairman of the Church Night series in connection with the Lenten advance program.
